Nahum 1:7

Kyle introduced this week's message with an encouraging verse from Nahum 1:7 about God being our shelter during difficult and tough circumstances. He told the students that it gets hard sometimes to do what God has called us to do. Sometimes it's hard to be gentle with our brother and sister. Sometimes it's hard losing in a game we play. However, Kyle encouraged the students with an illustration from boxing. He likened our lives to that of a boxing match. When the boxer gets tired and exhausted after a round or two, the trainer is right there to give them water, strategy, and encouragement. Kyle asked the students to draw hope from the fact that God is in our corner, and because of that, we can do all things through Christ who gives us strength! If the God who made the universe, who parted the Red Sea, and who raised Jesus from the dead can do those incredibly awesome things, He can certainly help you with your math and with being nice to your siblings and parents.
