"Waves swept over the boat. But Jesus was sleeping."
—Matthew 8:24b (NIV)

To engage the students and center their attention on the topic of having peace in the midst of difficult situations, Hannah led the students in recreating the sound of a thunderstorm. When directed by Hannah, the entire elementary school would either rub their hands, snap their fingers, clap, or pat their legs to simulate a thunderstorm. Then, she moved into explaining the story from Matthew 8 of how Jesus had peace, even in the midst of a storm on the Sea of Galilee. Hannah continued with how we go through different kinds of storms in life, and then she asked students of some things that they are afraid of. Students mentioned dinosaurs, tarantulas, and death. Hannah explained how, just like the disciples, when we are afraid, we need to ask Jesus for help, and He'll give us His peace. She concluded with these two main points: 1) Jesus is powerful, and 2) Jesus gives you peace.
